

Pamela Donnelly

*Pamela Donnelly is the founder and CEO of GATE College System, inc. A #1 best-selling author and keynote speaker, she quickly rose through the ranks from summa cum laude graduate at Columbia University in New York City with her degree in secondary education to one of America's foremost strategists in college admissions. During her 20-years as an educator, she's taught in the English Departments of both public and private schools, and holds three state certifications (in NY, VA and CA). After her classroom teaching career, she became one of the most in-demand private SAT and ACT tutors in Los Angeles and began developing the curriculum which would grow to become GATE College System. In 2012, she opened her first business, Valley Prep Tutoring Services, where she began with eight tutors and now leads a team of forty top educators offering in-home counseling and tutoring services. Her first book, SWAT Team Tactics for Getting Your Teen Into College, went to #1 on the Amazon best-seller list in Education. Following the release of her second book, 4 Keys to College Admissions Success, Donnelly has become a nationally-recognized media expert with both tips for parents/teens and political analysis of the shifting landscape of what it takes to access America's colleges. She has been featured in and interviewed by many of the most prestigious publications in America, including Time Magazine, The New York Times, NBC, ABC, CNN and more. Committed to championing underserved populations, the GATE College System digital solution delivers expert, insider information about the college admissions process at a price point affordable to all.
